MESSAGE

Dear EdTalk World Team,

I extend my heartfelt congratulations to Click Away Creators LLP for their commendable initiative in organizing a global knowledge-based seminar/conference for the International Educational Fraternity. This event is scheduled for two days on February 22nd and 23rd, 2024, in New Delhi, India.

This effort by the organization is praiseworthy, as it seeks to foster the free flow and sharing of knowledge within the education sector. It will provide a platform for renowned professionals to share their expertise and experiences, particularly in emerging areas such as EdTech Investments, STEM, the Hybrid Approach to Education, and the application of AI. These fields are reshaping societies worldwide, making the exchange of information crucial for the advancement of education.

I encourage all members of the Global Educational Fraternity to participate in this event, as it promises personal growth and development opportunities. We should strive to have more of such events in the dynamic realm of education.

Thank you

(Kanwar Pal)

Welcome...

Dear Esteemed Participants,

It is with an immense pleasure we extend our warm welcome to you for this EdTalk World Conference New Delhi, India. This is a momentous event that is poised to be a transformative gathering, uniting over 300 delegates from across the globe to delve into the dynamics and evolving landscape of the global education industry.

The essence of this EdTalk World Conference lies in its commitment to create an ultimate platform for the education sector, offering a holistic 360-degree approach to learning, connecting, and growing together. The overwhelming support and recognition we have received from the Hon'ble Governor of Haryana, Mr. Bandaru Dattatreya, and the Hon'ble Minister of Education, Government of Haryana, Mr. Kanwal Pal, along with the distinguished sponsors, and media partners has underscored our dedication to organize an event of unparalleled excellence.

The EdTalk World Conference 2024 will host global education leaders for two days of keynote speeches, and panel discussions. Participants include teachers, policymakers, and representatives from educational institutions and EdTech companies, all aiming to shape the future of education.

Our agenda spans across a diverse range of topics, encompassing discussions on the optimal learning environment, EdTech investment, the role of play education in early childhood, skill development, K-12 school education systems, promoting gender equity in classrooms, globalization, and internationalization of higher education, etc.

As a Highlight of the Event, the Prestigious Global Ed-Falcon Awards will be conferred to celebrate and honour the excellence of the industry leaders in the Global Education Fraternity.

The agenda offers educators sessions on technology, design, and engagement. Policymakers can gain insights from education professionals, while EdTech companies can network, identify trends, and explore new markets.

This platform also provides the researchers with a robust ground to present their work, delve into the emerging trends, and connect with fellow researchers. Also, Educational Institutions can benefit from sessions on leadership, data management, and communication strategies, by engaging with industry experts. All participants will discover networking opportunities and gain insights into EdTech entrepreneurship, investment strategies, and market trends to offer a unique opportunity for not only learning about the best practices, but also to contribute to the international discourse on the future of education. Also, we invite you to connect with potential partners, clients, investors, and mentors who are looking towards fostering collaboration and growth at the hub of the rich cultural and literary diversity of India.

Also, we eagerly anticipate your presence and participation at the EdTalk World Conference in New Delhi, India and contribute to make this event a grand success.

- Thankyou and Regards
